

SOCIETY OF JEWISH SCIENCE THE CENTER FOR APPLIED JUDAISM

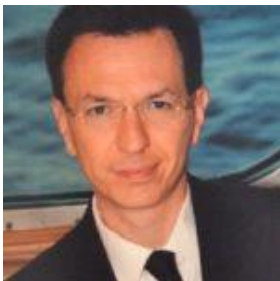

Wednesday, July 18, 2018 - 6:30 PM

ONE SIZE
DOES NOT FIT ALL

We are living in a new and exciting age where "one size does not fit all" for just about everything in our daily lives. This is especially true when it comes to our religious and spiritual practices.

Dr. Frederick Roden has graciously offered to be a facilitator for a discussion that will address the question if we were to offer a class at the Center, what kinds of spiritual resources, educational and otherwise would be helpful in going forward. You might want to consider how is spirituality meaningful to you? Does it serve as an ethical and moral compass? How if at all is it connected to your religious life and beliefs?

Dr. Frederick Roden is a Professor of English at the University of Connecticut where he is Stamford Campus Coordinator for the Center for Judaic Studies and Contemporary Jewish life. Dr. Roden is the author of seven books, he teaches credit and life learning courses on spirituality and has most recently taught a class titled "Reform Jewish Spirituality" at the prestigious Strecker Center at Temple Emanu-El. Dr Roden is also a member of the Society of Jewish Science and has great interest in the teachings of the Lichtensteins and the New Thought movement.

DONATIONS GRATEFULLY ACCEPTED

(Please RSVP to reserve a space at 212-682-2626 or cfajevents@gmail.com)

Society of Jewish Science
Center For Applied Judaism
109 E. 39th Street, NYC 10016
212-682-2626